

ITALIAN IS NOT THE MAN WANTED

Witnesses Say De Salvo Was Not Present in King Saloon.

HELD FOR A WEEK

Although Mike Kish, Nick Dirlozan and Steve Fer, three of the men in the King saloon just before Nick Mafer was killed on Jan. 24, say that Paul De Salvo was not a member of the party of Italians responsible for the murder. Chief Abbott asked in the city court today that he be held for a week as he fears he is getting what in common parlance is known as the double cross.

Kish filed the affidavit and one of the other men said before the arrest that De Salvo fired the shot and now all of them shake their heads when questioned and say the wrong man is being held by the authorities. The police have something more to develop in the case before they will consent to the release of the prisoner and the continuance was requested to give an opportunity for further investigation.

Nothing more has been obtained from De Salvo. He is firm in his denial that he fired the shot and insists that the murder was committed. In the meantime the chief is working hard on the case and believes that he will be able to land the man even if the one under arrest is able to prove an alibi.

The City Court Docket. Jake Shoub was in for public intoxication and was held until next Tuesday. Judge Mungovan told him he would make up his mind by that time whether to let him go or send him over for four months. "Oh, no, you wouldn't go as strong as that," was Jake's parting shot as he was taken back to the cell room.

John Henry and George Griffin, charged with public intoxication, were fined $5 and costs each and William Dunham drew $1 and costs.

Carl Stevens, for train climbing, and five young men picked up for loitering were let go.

GIVEN HANDSOME JEWEL. Royal Arch Masons Confer Honor Upon W. J. Haas.

Fort Wayne chapter No. 19, Royal Arch Masons, at its stated meeting Wednesday evening, presented the retiring high priest, W. J. Haas, a very beautiful past high priest's jewel. The presentation address was made by Jacob M. Stouder. Mr. Haas has previously been similarly honored by Home lodge No. 342 and by Fort Wayne council No. 4, Royal and Select Masters, he having served as presiding officer in each of these bodies.

Judge W. J. Vesey was at Auburn today on a business trip.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remediation. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running nose or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHEEVEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

DAMAGES SOUGHT BY INJURED MAN

Harry Flaugh Says Board Struck Him and Hurt Him $2,500 Worth.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Harry Flaugh has entered suit in the superior court against the Fort Wayne Oil and Pump company in which he is seeking $2,500 damages for an injury alleged to have been sustained in the company's plant.

He says he was working at a rip saw and a piece of board flew up and struck him in the chest, inflicting serious and permanent injuries. He says the company was at fault because the saw was not guarded. P. B. Colerick is his attorney.

Wagner Secures His Release. Frank Wagner, sent to jail from the city court yesterday under $1,000 bond on a charge of criminal assault, was released today. His bond was signed by his father and Herman Tapp.

Wife Asks Restraining Order. In the superior court Emma Klopfenstein has asked for a restraining order to prevent Rubeart Klopfenstein from visiting her or molesting her at the home of her father, George Mason, who lives in Springfield township. She also wants him restrained from drawing his wages as an employee of the local traction company, and is seeking a divorce.

She charges that he called her vile names, associated with lewd women and is an unfit person to have the custody of their child. Phil B. Colerick represents her.

Asks Damages for Injuries. Cammilla Royhans has entered suit for $4,000 against the city of Fort Wayne, alleging that he was thrown from his bicycle by striking some dirt that was dropped on Calhoun street while it was being hauled away from the elevation at the Pennsylvania crossing. He sustained a broken arm and some other injuries. He is represented by McAdams and Hartzell.

Father's Plea Prevailed. Sherman S. Kramer succeeded in securing a suspended sentence after he had confessed to the theft of $340 from Hagerman & Buesching. His father returned $100 of the amount and promised that he and his son would pay it all back.

SCORE TRAMPLED TO DEATH BY MOB

Mad Scramble for Food in Chinese Town Causes a Horror.

WEAK ONES GO DOWN

Hankow, China, March 3.—Twenty-one persons were trampled to death at Shuiyang, Huaipei province today, when a horde of starving Chinese fought for the food which missionaries were attempting to distribute.

A great many others were injured. The work of relief is attended with some peril to those who have taken supplies into the famine districts, as the natives in many instances are mad with deprivation. Today a considerable amount of food stuff was received by the missionaries, who established a systematic distribution. Their work was hardly begun when thousands of starving men, women and children swooped down upon the supply depot.

A riot which could not be controlled followed. Each fought for himself and the weaker went down and were ruthlessly trampled. The fighting continued as long as there appeared to be anything to fight for. The missionaries were helpless.

SENATE PASSES SOME BIG BILLS

jection until after Senator Gronna, of North Dakota, had performed that formality.

Reciprocity Bill for Stone. "Then," said Mr. Stone, the captain of the filibustering band, "I give notice that I shall move the consideration of the reciprocity bill."

"And I shall move that we take up the naval bill," said Senator Perkins in charge of that measure.

The senate agreed to the house provision of $3,000,000 in the sundry civil bill for beginning the work of fortifying the Panama canal. Senator Burton moved to strike out the paragraph, but that motion was defeated on a viva voce vote.

The senate adopted an amendment offered by Senator Culberson cutting down the house appropriation of $400,000 to continue the work of the temporary tariff board to $200,000 and making the amount available only for the fiscal year 1912. As it came from the house the appropriation was to continue available until 1913.

Sensor Culberson denounced this as a usurpation of the functions of the sixty-sixth congress.

An amendment making conditional appropriations for the permanent tariff board in the event of its establishment by law was offered by Senator Cummins and adopted.

Tariff Amendment Lost. Senator Culberson offered an amendment directing the tariff board to report to congress not later than the first Monday in December, 1911, on the iron and steel, the cotton and cotton manufactures and the wool and woolen schedules. On a ye and nay vote it was defeated, 40 to 43. The insurgent republicans voted with the democrats in favor of the amendment.

The sundry civil bill was passed by the senate at 12:50 p. m.

At 1:45 p. m. the senate passed the naval appropriation bill and resumed consideration of the postoffice bill.

END OF THE FILIBUSTER.

Washington, March 3.—Order out of chaos was brought at 3:05 o'clock this morning when the senate, after listening to many hours of filibustering, reached an agreement that at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning a vote would be taken on the bill to create a permanent tariff board. It was like snatching a brand from the burning fire when friends of the measure accomplished that result. What had been supposed to be the death knell for this measure had been sounded several hours before. The senate at 4 o'clock adjourned until 10 o'clock today.

Unfamiliarity with the rules of the senate on the part of the men engineering the obstructive tactics was responsible for the crumbling of the opposition. Senator Stone, confident of his ability to hold the floor for the night, had permitted the coterie of long distance talkers, who were to spell him today, to go to their homes. Learning that fact, Senator Beveridge invoked "rule 19" to take Senator Stone from the floor. Under this rule no senator "shall speak more than twice upon any subject in debate on the same day without leave of senate."

Get the Goods On Stone.

Sensor Stone had spoken early in the day on the tariff board bill. He spoke again at the night session. During his latter speech he moved to proceed with the sundry civil bill, which motion under the rules of the senate had the effect of taking him from the floor pending the disposition of that motion. The motion was defeated and at once upon his attempting to resume his speech Senator Beveridge made the point of order that Mr. Stone already had spoken twice.

Vice President Sherman was inclined not to provoke a controversy and at once asked Mr. Stone if he had spoken twice. Mr. Stone would neither deny nor affirm the statement made by Mr. Beveridge, but declared that he could not remember. Thereupon the vice president called upon the official stenographers and it was found that their notes verified Mr. Beveridge's point. Mr. Sherman sustained the point of order.

Not Equal to the Job.

Sensor Overman essayed to fill Mr. Stone's shoes, but was not equipped for a long speech and an hour later the agreement was made fixing the time for a vote.

At the request of several senators the agreement included the taking up of the naval appropriation bill, but after that had been considered for a little less than an hour, Mr. Stone forced an adjournment. He made a point of no quorum, and as so many senators had gone home after getting the tariff board bill out of the way, it was impossible to muster enough senators to remain in session.

Considerable bitterness was exhibited by democratic senators when Mr. Stone was taken from the floor. The Missouri senator, himself, protested loudly that the record of his previous speeches should be read so that the senate might judge whether he had exhausted his right under the rules to speak on the tariff board bill.

Equal to Expectations. The vice president declined to read these speeches and called Mr. Stone to order when he declared the reading of the chair to be arbitrary and unjust.

Mr. Stone, repeating the charge, then sat down. Senator Overman protested against the word of the stenographer being taken against the word of a senator. Mr. Sherman said that when called upon to say whether he had spoken twice that day, the senator had declared he could not recall having done so. Mr. Sherman said his only course had been to have the records of debate examined.

TWELFTH DISTRICT REMAINS THE SAME

Congressional Reapportionment Makes But One or Two Disturbances.

READY FOR NEW LAW

Indianapolis, Ind., March 3.—Five changes were made by the democratic caucus last night in the present boundary lines of the congressional districts of the state, a plan having been agreed upon in anticipation of the action of congress on the Crumpacker bill.

Morgan county has been shifted from the Fifth to the Second district, Lawrence county from the Second to the Third; Decatur county, from the Sixth to the Fourth; Laporte county from the Tenth to the Thirteenth, and Pulaski county from the Thirteenth to the Eleventh.

When changes in the Sixth district were considered, Senator Sullivan, of Indianapolis, submitted a plan by which the northern part of Marion county would be taken from the Seventh on account of excess population, and put in the Sixth, but objection was raised on account of the approximately 4,000 republican majority.

Sensor McClellan, of Frankfort, desired that Hamilton county be transferred from the Ninth to the Sixth. This was opposed by Senators Carleton and Shively, the former on the ground of the unfairness to Congressmen-elect Gray and the latter on the ground that the democratic had been successful under the present arrangement and that little change was better.

After a long debate in which Lieutenant Governor Hall spoke in behalf of the Sixth district, the vote showed that the district would be allowed to remain as it is, except for the loss of Decatur county, which is republican.

We expect the busiest day of our great sale tomorrow. We will have extra help, but try to trade as early in the day as you can. We know our store will be crowded in the afternoon.

SUIT AGAINST G. E.

Big Electric Concern Alleged to Be a Trust.

Cleveland, O., March 3.—Following a consultation between Judge W. S. Kenyon, assistant United States attorney general and United States District Attorney W. L. Day here today Attorney Day, representing the government, filed suit against the General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., and others, alleging an unlawful combination and a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

The specific charge is that the National Electric Lamp Co. was promoted by the defendants for the purpose of monopolizing the trade in carbon filament electric incandescent lights. The petition alleges that the National Electric Lamp Co. controls 97 per cent of that business.

The National Electric Lamp Co., incorporated under the laws of New Jersey has its headquarters in Cleveland.

SKIN GRAFTED ON BURNS.

Over Fifty Pieces of Skin Grafted on Small Girl, Who Was Burned.

Jennie Zdzawinski, of 727 Knitters avenue, the little girl who was terribly burned several weeks ago, when her clothing caught fire from a stove, yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital underwent the operation of having over fifty pieces of skin grafted on her chest, abdomen and thigh. The skin for the operation was furnished by friends of the little girl, and each voluntarily gave a square inch of their own person to keep their little friend from being terribly scarred for life.

The operation was performed by Dr. E. E. Morgan, who has been attending the child, and this morning she was reported to be doing nicely after the ordeal. Dr. Morgan stated to The Sentinel that he would not be taking the bandages from the child for a week, and consequently would not know how far the operation had been successful until that time. He stated, though, that it would take months for the burns to heal and the child would be confined to the hospital for many weeks.

ANTI-MAGAZINE BILL DEAD.

Washington, March 3.—The proposed increase of magazine postage is dead for this session. Chairman Penrose, of the senate committee on post-offices and post roads, announced on the senate floor today that in view of the certainty that the debate on the subject would obstruct other legislation he would ask the same to agree to abandon the proposition. Mr. Penrose said he would present a sub-amendment providing for a commission to investigate the subject.

NO EFFECT ON LOCAL OFFICE.

Prosecutor's Salary Is Not Changed Under the New Law.

The new law governing the salaries and fees of prosecuting attorneys will not have any effect in Allen county. It provides for $2,500 a year in all counties with populations of more than 1,000, and for $1,200 for a deputy and half of the fees collected in excess of $2,700. This has pertained here for several years.

Windfall, Ind., March 3.—Robbers here early today blew open the outer vault of the local bank and secured $450 belonging to the postoffice and $200 of the bank's funds. They failed to gain entrance to the inner vault, which contained $10,000 in cash. The detonation did not awaken any one and the robbers escaped. It is believed that the robbers belonged to the same gang that robbed the Matthews (Ind.) bank the night before.

IN RUSH FOR BAND WAGON

In the Senate. The passage of the Duncan miners' qualification bill and eight other house bills was the result of the morning session of the senate. The Duncan bill provided for a board of examiners in every county in the state where coal is mined, the board to examine and register every man qualified to enter the mines.

Sensor Halleck offered an amendment to give the operator representation on the examination board but this was defeated. An amendment by Senator Wood permits a foreigner who cannot answer questions in English to have an interpreter was carried.

The other bills in this carry-all were the Faulkner bill authorizing county commissioners to appropriate $300 for county treasurers to collect taxes by deputies in cities outside county seats, the Duncan bill granting a hearing to persons assessed for repair of levees, and the Seldensticker art institute tuition bill.

OMNIBUS BILL PASSED.

The second auto bus load of bills went through in a half hour, the measures being the Poor bill authorizing unlicensed merchants to sell drugs, the Keeny bill providing that the state board of pharmacy may license apprentices in the drug business and that these young men may be employed in place of regularly licensed pharmacists, the Fitzer bill granting an appeal to persons against whom sequestered taxables have been entered on the duplicate. The Connolly bill to make it possible to kill a dog which had been poisoned was lost for want of a constitutional majority.

MAY REFUSE TO TAKE BILLS.

Indianapolis, March 3.—Under the constitution, Governor Marshall may refuse to accept after today any bills passed by the legislature. The constitution gives the governor three days in which to consider bills that are sent to him for his signature, and as the session will close at midnight next Monday, the three days will begin to run at midnight tonight. It was said at the governor's office today that the governor would exercise in part the right given him by the constitution in this regard.

It was given out that he would receive after today only such bills as he expressly wishes to consider, and that all others will be refused.

The progress made today by the enrolling clerks in the senate and house enrolling rooms will largely direct the governor in his decision as to the bills he will receive.

The man who misses the last day of our sale will be sorry. Sale closes at ten thirty tomorrow night.

SWOOP UPON CITY

"Wet Goods" Men Over-run Wabash—Wednesday May Be Opening Day for Saloons.

Wabash, Ind., March 2.—On almost every car a good-looking stranger with a ready smile is coming into Wabash as a result of the option election which returns saloons to Wabash.

These strangers are here to sell "wet goods." Almost as soon as the result was telegraphed, the men were swooping down upon Wabash.

As there was such a general opinion that Wabash would go "dry," the liquor houses were slow about sending their men here but all houses were busy at once with the vote favorable to the "wets."

County Commissioner Knee when asked what day the commissioners would consider the licenses, replied: "We have had no licenses since I was on the board. What has been the custom?"

"Wednesday was usually the day." "Well, I suppose we will put it off as long as we can. The legislature has left us in the dark, so far, as to regulating measures."

The commissioners will not be in a hurry to act for as long as the present legislature is in session there is no knowing when they will act.

Should the licenses be issued Wednesday of next week, as now seems certain, the saloons will be open in many parts of the city on that afternoon or evening.

This will mean an old-time "making the rounds" on Wednesday evening and those who have been stating that "more liquor is drunk when dry" will get a chance to make a pretty fair comparison. The saloonists are elated at their success in winning out for two years to come, but there will almost certainly be an election in two years, the third here.

AFTER NEW FACTORY.

Business Men Meet to Raise Stock for Showcase Company.

North Manchester, Ind., March 2.—North Manchester is after a new factory. The S. S. Cox Showcase company wants to put a plant in that place, and $15,000 worth of 7 per cent preferred stock must be sold if the industry is secured. This money will go into the rebuilding of the burned automobile factory, which will be turned over to the company. In addition $20,000 worth of common stock must be sold at par, and Joseph A. Browne has agreed to take $5,000 of this sum. Besides the automobile plant a building 50x200 with a wing 50x70 feet must be erected together with a dry kiln. While the amount asked is considerable a mass meeting has been called to press the raising of the stock subscriptions.

NEW DISEASE

AT PORTLAND

Medical Fraternity Stirred Up Over New Malady That Resembles Measles.

Portland, Ind., March 2.—A new contagious disease is abroad in the land known to the medical profession as "Rubella," and six cases have been reported to Dr. W. D. Schwartz, secretary of the city board of health, and all have been placed under quarantine, using the measles flag.

"Rubella," it is said, closely resembles measles, and yet one having had the genuine measles is not rendered immune thereby from taking "Rubella." The new disease is believed to be what was formerly known as German or French measles, but it is just as contagious as the real measles.

Nellie Craig, an employee at the Knocke Shirt factory, was the first to take the disease last Sunday evening, since which time five other cases have developed among the employees of the same concern. Similar cases have been reported in various parts of the county for some weeks, but the attending physician, when one was called, were seemingly undecided as to what the disease was.

Teachers in the public schools, when they observe a pupil listless with the eyes red or coryza emitting from the nose, are requested to send the pupil home, as these are the first symptoms, and the points where the eruption first appear.

With the exception of the typhoid fever epidemic last fall this is the first contagious disease Portland has had since last July.

JUMPS FROM CAR

After Being Warned by Conductor—Receives Severe Wounds.

Warsaw, Ind., March 2.—Philip Mikesell, residing on the Carlin Myers farm north of Mentone, received severe bruises Wednesday evening while attempting to jump from a northbound Winona Interurban car, near Gates station.

Mikesell had taken the car due at Warsaw at 7:32 to come north and indicated his desire to stop at Gates. The conductor cautioned him not to attempt to alight while the car was in motion, but misjudging the speed made the attempt and was thrown to the ground and severely bruised. He was brought on to Warsaw and his wounds dressed by Dr. McDonald, and returned to Mentone on the 10 o'clock car.

NEW BANKING FIRM.

Former Private Institution Made Into State Bank.

Huntington, Ind., March 2.—Huntington is to have another banking firm. For some time Maurice M. Robinson, of the banking company that bears his name, has been in the city in consultation with E. W. Zintmester and plans have been completed for the organization of the new firm.

According to the plans which have been made, the Commercial bank, which for a number of years has been operated by Mr. and Mrs. Zintmester, will be changed from a private to a state bank. Mr. and Mrs. Zintmester will retain their interests, the banking firm will take a large block of the stock while some will be sold to local people.

RED MEN TO MEET.

Graves From Five Counties to Hold Meeting at Huntington.

Huntington, Ind., March 2.—Arrangements are being made for a big district meeting of Red Men to be held in this city on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday, March 15. The district includes Huntington, Wabash, Wells, Allen and DeKalb counties, and already the various lodges have promised a large attendance. Fort Wayne alone promising two car loads from that city will come. Nearly all of the state officers will be here and the affair will probably be one of the biggest in the history of the local order. Committees on invitation, reception and entertainment have been appointed and are arranging the plans for the affair as rapidly as possible.

PAYS FOR FUN.

Create a Disturbance on Interurban Car and Pays Fine.

Auburn, Ind., March 2.—Otto Gillem, of Waterloo, who was tried in Justice Green's court in this city Wednesday on charges of public intoxication, pleaded guilty and was fined $3 and costs, amounting to $10.05, which he paid. Gillem was arrested for creating a disturbance on a T. & C. I. car last Saturday while en route home from Fort Wayne and when charges were filed against him he at first pleaded not guilty, but later changed his opinion. Since the T. & C. I. officials have been carrying out their threats and arresting all intoxicated persons found on the cars, some passengers pay a high price for their fares.

RHEUMATISM

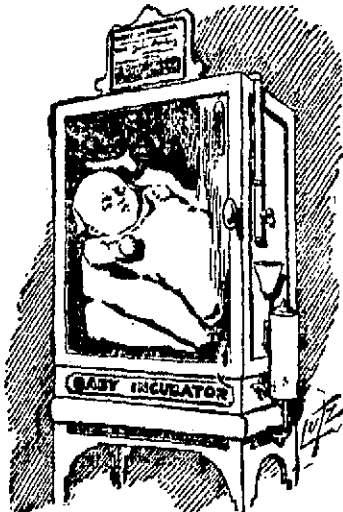

PURIFYING THE BLOOD
THE ONLY PERMANENT CURE

No case of Rheumatism was ever cured except by a thorough purification of the blood; just as long as the blood remains charged with fermenting uric acid poison, the painful disease will continue. The pains and aches of Rheumatism are simply superficial effects of the impurities in the circulation, and sometimes may be temporarily relieved by the application of plasters, liniments, hot cloths, etc. But the person who trifles with this dangerous disease by depending on local treatment alone, is certain to pay for the mistake with constant suffering later on. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism in the only way it is possible to cure the disease. It goes down into the blood, and removes the uric acid from the circulation, so that the nerves, bones, muscles and joints are lubricated and fed with nourishing elements instead of being continually irritated and inflamed with the sharp, uratic impurity. When S. S. S. has cleansed and purified the blood, the pains and aches cease, all inflammation disappears, stiffened muscles are made pliant, and every troublesome symptom of Rheumatism is permanently corrected. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

TO FIGHT THE WHITE PLAGUE.

Near the end of the present month there will be inaugurated in this city a week's campaign against tuberculosis. This project should enlist the interest and sympathy of all of common sense and humane impulses. It means the saving of human life and if that be not sufficient consideration, it means the saving of money.

The greatest foe of mankind is tuberculosis, a scourge which finds apt description in the term "the great white plague." It has been completely demonstrated that tuberculosis is not only preventable, but that taken in its earlier stages and rationally treated is curable. It is to interest the public in these stupendous facts that anti-tuberculosis campaigns are organized and pressed; to inform the people upon the means of prevention and the methods of cure. When there is general understanding and appreciation that every one is constantly exposed to infection by the germs of tuberculosis, that prevention after all means only a species of cleanliness that ought to be practiced for its own sake, that rational treatment is within the reach of all and that united public opinion crystallized in universal custom can conquer this most terrible of all human scourges the fight will be more than half won. Pure air, proper food, cleanliness and a regard for the health of the community are possible to all. The anti-tuberculosis campaign is designed to teach the truth of these simple facts.

Dr. E. A. Crull, public health officer for Fort Wayne, has exerted himself with great industry and intelligence to arouse public interest in this campaign in which he is the prime mover. The program for the week beginning March 27 will be as interesting as it will be valuable and will bring some notable authorities to this city. And while this is a battle for human life and human resources and not an entertainment, it will present nothing that will not appeal to every variety of interest. Your interest is needed to get the results sought.

PRESS THE SEALER ORDINANCE.

There is no reason why the sealer's ordinance should not be passed. The objections to it have not been in any case made clear. Certainly no one who means to be honest in his business can offer rational objection to a proposal that will protect him from the unfair competition of one who is not scrupulous. The worst that any one has so far been able to say against the measure is possible flaws in the law or unimportant weaknesses in its operation or graft springing from the dishonesty of a sealer. Surely no one will deny the correctness of the principle that any merchant or vendor should give in honest measure what he is paid for giving. If the ordinance has flaws that may make it ineffective or that may make it offensive the test will disclose them and amendment would be a matter of no difficulty or delay. As for grafting by a sealer, there is no way to prevent that until he is caught with the goods any more than there is a way to prevent graft by those who administer other public functions of such character as present a way for the sale of illegal or extra-legal privileges and indulgences. The sealer's ordinance should be passed. It will not in any wise hurt honest business; it will protect the people from dishonest business.

The Mexican revolution has abated to such a state of quiescence as argues the leaders to have been arranged with. There may soon enough be a fresh outbreak of fighting, but since the federals marched into Juarez it has been almost nothing doing in the entire theater of disturbance. It may be the insurgents are recruiting, foraging and gathering munitions preparatory to a grand movement purposed to spread the flames of revolution from Chihuahua to other states, though it is quite as reasonable to believe that the revolt is petering out or that the Mexican government is quietly winning by corrupting the patriots—a time-tested and fire-tested good old way that in some lands can produce results.

The liquor regulation bill is not all that some of the sincere friends of a denatured saloon had hoped it would be, but it nevertheless contains provisions that if enforced will have some good results. The duties of the county commissioners in judging the fitness of an applicant are made more clear than under the present law. It is to be hoped the text of the act is so clear upon this point as to force county commissioners to meet situations with courage of their own, and also to make mandatory their duties in certain cases, for that isn't the situation now by any means.

It doesn't appear to be realized by San Francisco courts that time is fleeting, that Abe Reuf is human and that in course of nature the big boodle boss of the coast city will go the way of all flesh. The resourceful Mr. Reuf has contrived once more to sidestep the privacy of San Quentin. There may be abundant mystery as to why but there is no cloud on the fact that the convicted boddler seems able to get about what he wants from the courts.

It is being urged upon Senator Lorimer that the narrowness of his escape from condemnation in the senate must spur him to heroic courses. Suggestion is made that he resign and appeal to the Illinois legislature to vindicate him, itself and Illinois. Mr. Lorimer may at one period of his life have been as easy as that, but it was while he was yet taking his meals through a tube. He knows when to stand pat.

Mr. Taft will have a nice new democratic majority to do business with in the house and an extensively made over republican majority in the senate when the extra session comes on. The bi-partisan disposition of matters during the extra-sessions may be a valuable object lesson to the common sense of the country.

Illinois legislature has it in mind to censure Senator Cullom for voting a clean bill of health to his colleague, Lorimer. With Lee O'Neil Browne sitting in the Illinois house unmolested and unafraid, the Illinois legislature could do a few more incongruous or uncalled for things.

The very venerable and almost reverend United States senate is cavorting in its filibusters in a fashion to make itself think it has been outfitted with fresh blood and new bones.

Not even as vice president can Sunny Jim Sherman get away from habits contracted while a member of the Jocannon rules committee of the house.

It will be noted that Hon. Albert Jeremiah Beveridge is retiring in something that is a very deceptive imitation of a blaze of glory.

Why is it called the Sucker State? Well, among other reasons there's Lorimer.

MOVEMENT FOR A DAY OF REST.

(The Postal Record.)

It is a trite observation that all great movements for the amelioration of the conditions under which the workers of the world perform their labors have been retarded by the apathy of those whom the movement is designed to benefit. Human nature is apparently so constituted that the majority of people who suffer by reason of a hardship prefer to endure it rather than to agitate for a removal of its cause. This may be due—and doubtless is—to the proneness of each of us to think that some other can or should accomplish the desired result without our active co-operation and efforts. At any rate, the agitation for Sunday rest in the government service, inaugurated by the Rev. Dr. Grannis, of the Lord's Day Alliance, and so splendidly seconded by the members of that admirable organization, did not meet with the spontaneous and hearty support of the government employes one would naturally have expected. Owing to the able and unceasing efforts of Dr. Grannis and his coadjutors, however, interest in this most worthy cause has been wonderfully aroused, and such progress is being made that the near future is bright with promise.

The following letter recently received from Dr. Grannis shows along what lines the campaign is being waged and how far-reaching are their methods:

New York, Nov. 19, 1910.

Mr. Ed. J. Cantwell, 945 Penna. Ave., Washington D. C.

My Dear Cantwell: You and your associates in the postal service will doubtless be gratified to know that the movement to close the carriers' windows to Sunday callers for mail is spreading to all sections of the country. Within the past few months we have communicated with the officers of ministerial unions in over four hundred cities and towns. Among the last to take up the work under the plan of campaign we suggest are Milwaukee, Wis.; Los Angeles, Cal.; Kansas City, Mo.; Pittsburg, Pa.; Detroit, Mich., and scores of smaller towns. Word reaches us that Rocky Ford, Colo., and Detroit, Mich., have been added to the list of offices closed on Sunday.

Now is the time to push the work in every community where there are branches of carriers and clerks organized.

HIS MOST TIRESOME JOB.

(Baltimore Sun.)

"The most tiresome job I have to do," a wealthy man said, on his way downtown to clip his January coupons. He actually resented a few hours' toil with the scissors!—or don't they clip coupons with scissors? And yet his father laid the foundation of this fortune by wielding for ten hours a day an instrument very much more wearying than a coupon clipping scissors.

In justice to our complaining friend it should be said that his distaste for a task that to most of us would seem quite delectable was not due to physical laziness, for he is really very active and energetic, especially in chasing the perverse golf ball or the elusive fox. What made cutting coupons a tiresome and dreaded task to him was the meaninglessness of it all. He and his treasure had become things apart, there was no human relation between them. He probably could not even recall the names of his bonds—they were merely so much engraved paper to him.

A few years ago the young man who inherited a fortune found it invested in mills or lands or enterprises which his father had built up and which it was necessary to hold intact. The son stepped at once into the responsibilities and human relations of the wealth he inherited. Today he inherits a safe deposit box.

This shirking of responsibility and regarding wealth as a mere coupon abstraction has a bad effect both on the individual and on the community. Only a few generations ago the wealthy man was the serviceable man; his property was held and administered by him or his personal stewards or by his family; today a large part of the actual ownership of wealth is in people who feel no sense of responsibility as to the actual labor that earns the coupon and who feel and recognize no duties connected with their wealth as part of the capital of society. This effect of our tremendous corporate development, with its wide diffusion of ownership as reflected in coupons and dividends, is a phase of the corporation problem that seems to have escaped most students, and yet in its larger aspects it may well be the most important feature of the problem.

The Mark Twain library was founded by Mr. Clemmens in 1908, soon after he became a resident of Redding. A big force of police was sent to guard the stables and offices, but no overt demonstrations were attempted by strikers or their sympathizers.

ALLIGATOR IS DEAD.

Saurian's Demise Lifts Big Load From Will Thiel's Mind.

The alligator shipped from Florida a few weeks ago to Will Thiel, of the Hamilton National bank, by his brother who is making a tour of the south, has succumbed to the rigors of the northern climate. Soon after its arrival in Fort Wayne Mr. Thiel succeeded in inducing Joseph Butzell, the West Main street druggist, to accept custody of the reptile until spring, but Mr. Thiel has been putting in all his spare time wondering what he was going to do with the "gator" when Mr. Butzell's patience was exhausted and he cast the saurian adrift. When the alligator obligingly died last night, it lifted a tremendous load from Mr. Thiel's mind, and life has a roseate hue for him once more.

CONSTITUTION TO GOVERNOR

Instrument Upon Which Hoosiers Are to Vote is Passed.

MARSHALL WILL SIGN

Indianapolis, March 3.—The proposed new Indiana constitution received the stamp of approval of the democrats of the lower house of the general assembly yesterday afternoon and every republican present entered his protest against the passage of the constitutional bill drafted by Senator Stoenburg.

There were no clashes between the majority and the minority, but the door keepers had been instructed to prevent an exodus of the republican members and when the reading clerk began reading the bill, one of the double doors at either end of the house chamber was closed and arrangements made to close the other two doors if any member tried to leave.

The republican members compelled the majority to have the reading clerk read the whole bill, including the proposed new constitution. The reading clerk read in relays and the reading took up more than two hours and thirty minutes. Not more than half a dozen members paid any attention to the reading. Most of them chatted together in groups, while the monotones of the reading clerk were inaudible to all but the members in the "front" seats. Representatives Furnas and Edgwood, republicans, "held copy" to see that the reading clerk didn't skip a line.

Every democrat voted "aye" on the Stoenburg constitution bill and all were recorded as present. Representative Weeks was the only republican absent. He has been ill and unable to attend the sessions practically from the first. There were thirty-nine votes recorded against the passage of the Stoenburg bill.

Democrats Are Watchful.

The democratic members of the house were not quite sure whether the republican members would spring a ruse at the last moment and the opening moments of the reading of the bill were fraught with keen interest. The aisles of the house chamber and the galleries were filled with people curious to see whatever might occur.

Scarcely had the reading clerk begun the long task of reading the constitutional bill when Speaker Veneman requested him to take his place on the minority side in order that the republican members might hear well. The speaker's request caused laughter. Representative Furnas called the speaker's attention to the fact that several members of the majority were obstructing their view of the reading clerk and causing confusion in the front part of the house. Again the members laughed.

There was no protest from the majority when Speaker Veneman ordered the reading clerk to begin the reading of the constitutional bill in full. During the reading Senator Kane appeared on the floor of the house with a protest against the action of the republicans who would prevent the consideration of certain senate bills in which the republican members of the upper house were interested. He pleaded with Representative Eschbach, minority floor leader, and Representative Paris, to call off the reading, but they heard his protests with deaf ears. Both declared they would take care of the house and that the senator from Hamilton would have enough to do to attend to the business of the senate. Kane held a short conference with Speaker Veneman and returned to the senate chamber.

Many Read Protests.

The republicans for the most part read their protests in the one minute allowed them by the rules of the house to explain their votes. About one-third of the members submitted a stereotyped form of protest that had been prepared by a committee appointed for that purpose by the republican caucus Wednesday night. The others submitted a protest which they individually had prepared. Following the reading or in response to the roll call, each member asked to have his protest recorded on the journal of the house.

Representative Eschbach's protest embodied the argument set forth in most of the others.

After the roll call had been finished Cravens, majority floor leader, raised a point of order. He maintained that all but one of the "explanations" were merely protests, and that they could not be submitted as explanations of the members' votes. Only Representative Breining had given an explanation of his vote and at the same time submitted a protest along with his explanation. Representative Furnas replied that the constitution gave any member the right to enter a protest. Speaker Veneman sustained Cravens' point of order, but explained that the members had a right to have their protests recorded, and since all had been read nothing would be gained by an affirmative ruling.

WEIGH YOURSELF BEFORE USING

Weigh yourself before commencing to use Samose, the great flesh-forming food. The wonderful sale on this preparation since first introduced in Fort Wayne and the remarkable results following it use have made Meyer Bros. Co. such enthusiastic believers in the great value of Samose that they give their persons' guarantee to refund the money if Samose will not make thin people fat and restore strength and health to those who use it.

This is a strong guarantee, but Meyer Bros. Co. have seen so many of their customers who a few weeks ago looked like walking skeletons become plump and well, through the use of Samose that they feel they cannot say too much to induce people to try it.

This marvelous flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it is taken into the stomach, makes good rich blood, tones up the weakened system, helps to assimilate the food and makes the user plump, well and rosy.

port, like the others, absolves the Philippine officials of wrong-doing and concedes that they acted within the interpretation of law laid down by the law officers by whose opinion they were bound to be guided; but holds that their action was in pursuance of a mistaken policy.

It is understood to be the position of these members of the committee that the friar lands should have been administered as public lands under the provisions of the "organic law" of the islands, and that even if this view of their legal status be not sustained by the law, it is nevertheless a mistaken policy to sell the friar lands in larger tracts than under the limitations affecting the public domain. As to the latter, the organic act puts a limitation of sixteen hectares upon the amount to any one purchaser except as to an actual settler.

The democrats expected to sign the report with Mr. Jones are Robert N. Page, North Carolina; Finis J. Garrett, Tennessee; Matt Denver, Ohio; Harvey Helm, Kentucky, and A. W. Rucker, Colorado. Thus far they have not signed any report.

Porter, who by the way did not know beforehand that he was thus to be honored. Dr. A. R. Graham, of Indianapolis, was the only guest from out of town. The tables for dinner were beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns, yellow tulips, pale lavender sweetpeas, frezias and Marguerites seemed to be especially adapted to the occasion. Brass bowls and baskets held these flowers and when the dessert was served a long table was laid on the plate for each guest. Dr. Drayer was associated with Dr. Porter in the early days of his practice of medicine and his admiration and affection for the elder physician and surgeon was voiced in this tribute and in his remarks at the dinner table.

A WORD ABOUT WAISTS.

By MRS. JANE FORD.

6 SIZES 32 TO 42 BUST

There is no question that separate waists do not hold the place in the wardrobe they once did. Where is there a woman, however, who would be willing to be without at least a half dozen tub blouses? For spring wear with cut suits they are indispensable, and one is ever on the watch for some novel feature that marks their distinctiveness of the season's output. This year the French percale waist, of striped or figured design in a color that matches the skirt or suit with which it is worn, is extremely smart. The sleeves and body are in one, with tucks at the shoulder and a side front closing.

Pictured is a model shown by a Fifth avenue shop that makes a specialty of these garments. I am told by this house that the new blouses are flat—extremely flat—and at least one inch in diameter. They are of wood, covered with the material, arranged so that the stripe or figure comes exactly in the center of the disc. In order that the button may be laundered without becoming discolored by the wood, a circle of heavy white linen is laid over the face of the mould before the percale is applied. Another point well worth mentioning is the way they are sewed on with a long shank of the thread. This makes them set much better when put through the button-hole than if they were close to the goods, and also makes the ironing of the waists less difficult.

Novel features in the way of neckwear are not in abundance this spring. Perhaps the continued popularity of the collarless blouse has caused the market absence of such novelties, but with a strictly tailored shirt waist this feature must not be omitted if one wishes to be appropriately gowned. Standing collars are in good taste, and there is a new linen Dutch collar that sic of a mandolin club composed of Messrs. Blubaker, Hirschman and Hitzman. The rooms were decorated with beautiful potted plants and ferns. An excellent supper was served late in the evening. Guests invited were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hoerner, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hitzman, Mr. and Mrs. George Simmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Bluebaker, Misses Mina Hirschman, Nellie Blubaker and Messrs. A. Hirschman and Harry Bluebaker. Mr. Hitzman sang a number of songs to the enjoyment of the entire company.

One of several merry surprise parties of the week was that given Emmet Raunon on Tuesday night by a company of his young friends, who presented him with a handsome gift as well as united in the good time. The guests went prepared to serve a substantial luncheon and that was enjoyed after music and games had furnished entertainment. Miss Florence Freilburger played several selections at the piano. The guests were Misses Rosa Kadinski, Helen Christen, Marie Yale, Julia Christen, Margaret Woodworth, Florence Freilburger, Gladys Steinbacher, Helen Jones, Mildred Mungovan and Messrs. Marlin Mungovan, Roscoe Drogemeyer, Irwin Arnold, John Christen, Sylvester Klotz, Eddie Bruns, Loyal Decker, Cletus Jones, Phil Telly and William Miller.

Captain and Mrs. Christ Rohyans celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Tuesday by entertaining a few of their many friends. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Rohyans took place a quarter of a century ago in St. Paul's Lutheran church and Rev. Sauters performed the ceremony. The rooms for the anniversary celebration were decorated with flowers and festoons of silver and white paper. A wedding cake graced the table, which was beautiful in appearance with its appointments of silver and white. Miss Hulda Rohyans assisted her parents in entertaining the guests, who were Mr. and Mrs. K. Piepenbrink, Mr. and Mrs. Stivers, Mr. and Mrs. Ortman, Mr. and Mrs. Mueser, Mr. and Mrs. G. HATS OFF TO THE ONION FAMILY

By Jeannette Young Norton.

It is an awful thing to contemplate the state of mind in which all cooks and chefs would be plunged were the onion family, with its family tree of many branches, swept from the earth. In its various forms we might almost say that it is the cook's mainstay in adding a lost indescribable flavor to a savory dish.

The family is supposed to have come originally from India through Egypt, thence to Greece and Italy. In warm climates it is much less acid and far sweeter than in colder latitudes.

In Spain the peasants go along the roads munching onions as we do apples, the same big ones that are imported here in winter time, the ones we roast, bake, boil and cook in various ways. It is a volatile acid oil that is thrown off in peeling that prickles our eyelids' delicate lining and reduces us temporarily to tears. This is not serious, however, and listen, O ye housewives, it is said to make the eyes brilliant and sparkling beyond all other eye beautifiers. The onion, leek, garlic and shallot have the same flavoring properties and are almost interchangeable in seasoning food, but it takes a skilled cook to know the difference in the quality needed.

Onions Cure Rheumatism.

The onion is not acceptable to all stomachs, but as a rule when they are boiled and the water thrown off twice during the process they are easily digested, while the tea made from onions is considered a great aid in rheumatic cases, and in the dissolving of gall stones. The following recipes are all tried and are more or less well esteemed by practical home cooks.

Onion Soup.

Pare and quarter four large onions and stew them in six ounces of butter for one hour. Add one pint of good white stock, salt and pepper and cook another hour very slowly. Heat a half pint of cream and a half pint of milk together, have ready beaten the yolks of four eggs and add to them a ladle of the soup, when thoroughly mixed add to the hot milk and stir until thoroughly blended. Add them to the rest of the soup and let all heat together, but not boil. Cover the bottom of the tureen with small toast squares lightly sprinkled with Parmesan cheese and turn the soup over them.

Onion Fritters.

Make a good batter for omelet or apple fritters. Grate one large onion season it with cayenne pepper, salt and a quarter of a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. Add to the batter and fry the fritters in hot deep fat a delicate brown and drain in the usual way. Serve in a napkin with parsley and lemon thinly sliced for garnish.

Onion Pie.

Line a well buttered baking dish with good pastry; into it slice six large onions in thin slices. Place six small sausages, star like, from the edge to the center, add generous lumps of butter, pepper, salt to taste; pour in a cup of rich milk to which one egg has been added well beaten; put on the top crust, cutting a fancy opening in the center and making a border with the pressure of the silver fork lines as for any pie. This makes an excellent cold weather luncheon dish with a small steak, chops or cold boiled ham.

Scalloped Onions.

Boil six good sized onions until they are tender, but do not fall apart. Drain and place in a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle a few fine cracker crumbs, pepper, salt and a dash of sugar over them, and put a lump of butter on each. Pour in one pint of rich milk, into which two eggs have been beaten, and grate a little Parmesan cheese over the top. Bake a delicate brown in a moderate oven.

In the use of the garlic much care should be exercised, for the American stomach thrinks it a very obtrusive sort of flavoring, but if used by an expert in the right way, and without using its name, many marvel as to what the exquisite taste can be. The leek is almost entirely left to the tender mercies of the soup pot. The shallot is rather the aristocrat of the family, perhaps owing to its strong resemblance to a tulip bulb. Like the rest of the family, a little of it goes a great ways, but it is highly es-

FINE COMPANY IN "THE THIEF."

Bernstein's Great Play is at the Majestic for Three Days.

People who have seen the present production at the Majestic of "The Thief" are delighted with the work of the company. This great play is now produced at popular prices and if that fact has suggested a lower standard of acting there is a grievous error. The company at the Majestic deserves all praise. The roles of Richard and Marie Louise Voysin are very finely taken and Miss Edna Archer Crawford, as "Marie" Voysin is a beautiful woman with an attractive personality and a well balanced appreciation of her part. As the petted and indulged wife she is sweet and natural and as the discovered thief and despairing woman she conveys much force without abuse of emotional acting. Mr. Voysin is admirably acted by James A. Heenan, whose quiet power and restraint find a splendid climax in the second act. Samuel Godfrey is very creditable as Fernand and leaves little or no room for criticism. Other parts are ably handled, thus making the production one in which a discriminating audience will realize many fine points and one less critical will equally enjoy.

"The Thief" will be seen the rest of this week with a matinee tomorrow afternoon.

Simply as a porridge it makes a satisfying and sustaining breakfast food, and its medicinal properties are so great that sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia have been restored to health and strength by eating it regularly.

THE SORRY FAIRY

Jane had been so very naughty the whole day long her mother was glad indeed when it grew dark enough to put her to bed. Jane was but five years old, very tiny, with blue eyes and golden curls. Indeed she was so pretty it seemed quite a shame she should not always be good as well. Her mother kissed her good night, turned the light low and left the room. Jane lay very still waiting for her eyes to close, but they would not. Presently she heard a soft little sigh, and glancing in the direction from which it came she saw seated on the rail of her crib a very, very little creature whose face was quite sad: "Who are you?" asked Jane; "and what are you doing there?" "I am one of the sorry fairies," was the reply. "I must sit here all night long and be sorry because you were so naughty today. You see," continued the fairy, "whenever a child has been very troublesome the fairy queen sends the sorry fairy who belongs in that neighborhood to sit with that child and be sorry. Of course the poor little fairy grieves very much about it, because it is only when all the children in her neighborhood have been very good that she ever has time to be happy. So if you will please go to sleep I shall begin to be sorry," concluded the fairy.

Jane felt so bad over what she was told by the fairy that she made up her mind to be much more obedient in the future. She remembered at once when she woke in the morning, and all day long was so sweet and good her mother was very much pleased with her.

She continued to behave like a lovely child day after day and was surprised to find how happy her conduct made everybody. She was also very happy herself, for every one knows, to be good is to be happy.

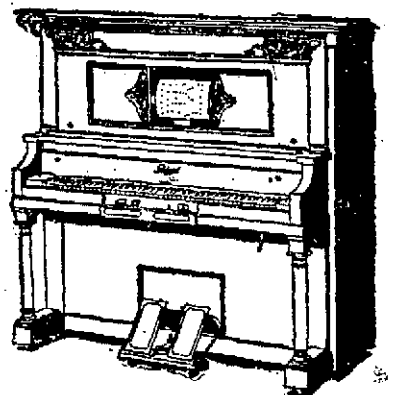

A week passed quickly, and one night her mother kissed her twice and lowered the light and left the room. Presently she heard the merriest little laugh and looking in the direction from which it came, she saw the same little fairy she had seen before; but, oh, what a change! It was dancing along the rail of the crib singing the prettiest song and laughing.

"How do you do," said Jane, "I am glad to see you again."

"Thank you," said the fairy. "You have been such a good child, the fairy queen said I might have a whole night to enjoy myself. So just close your eyes and I shall dance and sing here until the cock crows in the morning."

And Jane was very happy and went to sleep.

BURTON NOW IN FAVOR OF CANAL

Big Project Has Enlisted Friendship of Powerful Ally.

HERE IN SEPTEMBER

Senator Theodore Burton, of Ohio, Chairman of the senate rivers and harbors committee, is now a firm friend of the project for a barge canal connecting Lake Erie and Lake Michigan, according to the statement of Congressman Cline in a letter to P. A. Randall. Local supporters of the canal movement will be disposed to regard this fact as the most important recent development in the effort to link Toledo and Chicago by means of a barge canal, which will utilize the Maumee river by way of Fort Wayne. Senator Burton's position makes him a most powerful force in the matter of waterways, and he has not heretofore looked kindly upon the Fort Wayne project. Congressman Cline believes Senator Burton has been completely won over to the importance and desirability of the big enterprise.

Coming to Fort Wayne. Senator Burton is also chairman of the joint waterways commission of congress, and Congressman Cline has secured the promise of the commission to make an investigation of the proposed route for the canal in September. The commission will meet in Fort Wayne during that time. Capt. Charles Campbell will leave New York Sunday to resume his campaign for the canal, and will deliver addresses in Buffalo and Detroit before reaching Indiana.

The greatest bargains of our sale will be found tomorrow. Read ad on page five. PATTERSON-FLETCHER CO.

FIRE NEAR GASOLINE TANK

In Rear of Troy Laundry Causes Panic Among Girl Employees.

A pile of rubbish, in the rear of the Troy laundry, was discovered on fire Thursday afternoon just in time to avert the flames reaching a large gasoline tank near by. The girls working on the second floor of the laundry were thrown into a near panic by the blaze and its nearness to the gasoline tank, and it was with difficulty that they were controlled enough to make a hurried, but orderly exit from the building. It is thought the rubbish was set on fire by small boys.

Carpenters Take In Many New Members.

One hundred and two names were added to the membership roll of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners at the meeting last night and something like 125 were added at previous meetings, making the total of 225 taken in during the membership campaign which began two months ago and closed last night. It was the greatest feat in the way of building up a labor organization ever accomplished in Fort Wayne and the men back of the work are feeling quite jubilant over it. The meeting, which was presided over by President W. M. Lackey, was the largest the carpenters ever held in the city. The principal speaker was President L. D. Redding, of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, but other labor leaders made short addresses. The carpenters anticipate a very busy season in 1911, though just at present there is not a great deal doing in that line.

FOUR MEN ANNEX GAME FROM FIVE

Hattersleys Show Form in the Second and Save a Shut Out.

LEADERS WIN THREE

Or Tenkel rolled 22 and Leslie Tucker 20 in the second game of the first Brunswick series last night and these two doubles with a contribution of 188 from Keller and 180 from Strasser enabled the Hattersley and Sons five to beat a full team rolling for the Wolf & Deaneaters.

This is rather an unusual record, although the feat was accomplished here before. The department store quintet had a bad slump in the game and only one man rolled up to average. At that the quartet won out by forty pins and displayed great form. Tenkel's score gave him the high marks of the series with Knopke leading the losing tribe. He scored 21 in his opening game but along with the others sustained a slump in the second. The scores follow:

MEYER BROTHERS CINCINNATI

El Venozos Suffered Three Straight Defeats

Meyer Brothers rolled three consistent games in the second league and were enabled by the good work of Bartels and Rapp to put themselves way to the front in the championship race by riddling the El Venozos in a shut-out series. Rapp and Bartels rolled two doubles each but the latter ran 22 in his closing game and took the honors although he was given a good chase by the runner-up.

If the other members of the losing team had kept pace with the winner, they would have been a cinch. He opened with a double and got enough pins in the second and third to give him an average better than 100. The scores follow:

BOSTON FIGHTER COMING THROUGH

DAVE DESHIER, LEVINE

Dave Deshier, the Boston lightweight, who has been winning right along in New York. He recently knocked out "Kid" Burns in three rounds.

BENDER WANTED TO SHOW UP THE SCRIBE WHO ROASTED HIM

Over Shibe park, in the mellow days of last October, a tornado of cheers was breaking from twenty-five thousand and more throats. The atmosphere seemed cluttered with the very fragments of noise that resulted as the tremendous shouts, were climbing into diving echoes. Inside the gate a tall, bronzed man, with an arm like a mighty piston rod, was driving defeat into the champions of the National League and starting the Athletics toward the high road of success in the world's series. That colossal giant was Charles Albert Bender, the mighty warrior of the tribe of Black Hills. He never showed the slightest knowledge of the tremendous cheers which his mighty work on the mound was evoking. Beneath that surface of taciturnity the fires of a great happiness were burning.

And thereby hangs a tale that was told the other day by the great chief himself. It was the story of how Bender was bound not to lose the first game of those wonderful exhibitions that gave to Philadelphia its first championship best, that snatched the honors of supremacy from the National League for the first time in years, and gave the Iron Chief the delight of his life. Hear the story.

"I never could have lost that opening game with Chicago. I had more at stake than anybody knew."

With this peculiar statement the giant chief picked his winning hand from his inside pocket and took out a wallet that seemed bulging with money. With the most careful extraction from that glittering strong box a long slim sheet of pink paper. With a flip of his hand he opened to view a newspaper clipping from one of the prominent St. Louis papers. With a long, low, brown finger the Iron Chief pointed to the story. It was penned

RICHARDSON MAY JOIN THE RANKS

Wheeling Pitcher Who Was Out Last Year Wants to Get Back.

HAS HIS CONTRACT

Wheeling, W. Va., March 2.—Pitcher Richardson, whose inability to work in harmony with Manager Bill Phillips' ideas of how a baseball team should be conducted, and was suspended at the close of the season of 1932, wants to come back, and has written that while the terms of his contract are not satisfactory he may report for duty and come to terms.

Richardson is a good pitcher and will make a valuable addition to the local pitching staff and a year on the suspended list will probably be better to him and make him a more willing worker and less inclined to create ill feeling among the players.

Richardson pitched his last game in the Central league against Terre Haute on September 18; at that time he had won sixteen games and lost eleven. At the beginning of August he stood fifteen and seven, and for that reason many thought he did not try during this month. He gave his reason for his losses during the month, the ones named and complained because Phillips made him work in his turn anyway.

During the part of the season he was held he pitched 215 innings, allowed 20 hits, and 50 runs, gave out 49 bases on balls and registered 81 strikeouts.

There is no question but that Richardson can make good here, and local fans will be glad to learn of his prospective return. He is in fine shape, he writes, having had a fine season with the army last year. He pitched a suitable number of innings and having already done some training this year.

NEW NAME FOR GRAND RAPIDS.

Club Will Be Known in Baseball as Bissell Sweepers. It Is Said.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 2.—The Grand Rapids Central league baseball team will be known as the Bissell Sweepers. The institution whose name the Grand Rapids team will carry is the largest manufacturing concern of its kind in the world. The year around it employs 432 men and women. Every week it turns out 15,000 regular size sweaters and 4,000 toy machines. It has agencies in every large city in the world.

Pat Purcell, an old time ball player, who has made his home in Columbus, O., for many years, will see one of his cherished desires granted this spring when the three of his sons are actively engaged in professional baseball.

One of his sons, Mark Purcell, an infielder, who played with Chillicothe last year, has signed a contract with the Boston team of the Eastern league. Mark had a non-reserve contract with Chillicothe and was free to sign where he pleased. Billy Purcell, the oldest of the three boys, who is going to play third base for the Boston Red Sox, kept a weather eye open for his brother's interests and succeeded in placing him in Montreal.

Perhaps what pleases the father most is the breaking into professional ranks of Joe Purcell, his youngest boy, who will try for the Boston job in the Mansfield club of the Ohio and Pennsylvania league. Joe, who is but 18 years old, played third base and shortstop for the Boston team of the Eastern league last summer. He was handicapped at the start of the season by not being able to get into shape, but he struck his stride during the latter part of the season and played fine ball for the club.

The father himself wore the uniform of the Mansfield club for several years and the going of "his youngest" to the same team just about fills the joy cup of this veteran sportsman.

GREAT GAME IS EXPECTED.

Concordia College Will Meet Findlay at Basketball.

On Saturday the greatest event of the Concordia season will be pulled off when the local team will clash with the immortal five of Findlay, Ohio. The visitors have beaten the Lima White Stars on their home floor and this indicates that the Findlay team is the strongest ever brought to this city. As the college has had its hands full in defeating the Lima team, everybody expects a very exciting game.

The boys, who were defeated by the St. Paul's Walker league quintet some weeks ago, are out for revenge in this preliminary against that five, while the local team is confident that their team can repeat.

IS BASEBALL A SCIENCE?

Barney Dreyfuss Can Get Ground By Showing That It Is.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 2.—If President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh baseball club can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the city council that baseball is an institution for the promotion of the arts and sciences, he will see a slice of valuable ground in Schenley park to enlarge the Forbes field stadium.

There is now an ordinance before the city council providing for the leasing of the park land to the city, but a few sticklers for form have declared that the provision in the deed conveying the land to the city specifies that the ground shall be used only for parks, public libraries, art buildings, and institutions for scientific uplift.

WOLCAST NOT IN SHAPE FOR BOUT

Dickerson Fears Champ is Taking Long Chance in Brown Fight.

JONES IS PLEASED

E. W. Dickerson, a close personal friend of Al Wolcast, a keen observer and thoroughly acquainted with the fight game, is afraid that the champion is not prepared to go the route with Knockout Brown in his engagement scheduled in New York tonight and he has this to say:

Entering the ring almost without training preparation, opposed to a man trained to the minute, the writer is fearful of the result of lightweight Champion Wolcast's bout with Knockout Brown in New York tonight. The only chance I can see for the champion to knock out or land a blow which will show the New Yorker up so that it practically amounts to a knockout.

If the bout goes the limit and Brown forces the fighting, keeping on top of Al every minute of the time, as he usually fights, and such is always the best policy in fighting a man not in the best of condition, he should win the bout. Brown in the best of condition is fully as good or better than a champion out of condition.

Any one at all wise to the angles of the prizefight game should have seen preparations for a second meeting between Wolcast and Brown in the first bout between them. Likewise, even before it took place, the second bout looks a preliminary to a third. Tom Jones says Wolcast is in the finest of fettle for the bout, tomorrow night. The champion has been taking a long rest in New York, and he is being treated as such in the management of the club staging the bout.

Wolcast or any other champion makes a mistake any time an able bodied opponent is held cheaply to the extent of neglecting training. Even the rankest of fighters is liable to wear down a top notcher who cannot stand the pace. Ten rounds of fighting means thirty-nine minutes from going to fight, thirty-five minutes of rest, and ten minutes of travel thirty out of thirty-nine minutes at top speed he must be in good condition.

To beat Brown, even despite the lack of class shown by the New Yorker in his bout with One Round Hogan, Wolcast should be in better condition than he is now, being going the limit over a knockout punch, and Wolcast is not a one punch winner.

Considering the monetary value of the championship, Wolcast is taking a rash risk in fighting out of condition, risks which may cost him an asset never to be regained. If the bout lasts the limit, he cannot lose the championship for the reason that no decision is to be rendered. A bad fight, however, may reduce his value as a drawing card by half, the bout taking place in New York, where the big money in short bouts is to be made at present. It has already been shown that Brown is not a dub, yet cannot be treated as such in being held so cheaply.

There are a number of good lightweighters who would draw with the champion now and who would be glad to take a chance any time as was shown in the Philadelphia meeting. If this contingency arises it is not altogether unlikely that he may get over one of the valuations of the variety which gave him his name.

MANAGER JONES IS PLEASED. Thinks His Man is Prepared for This Important Meeting.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 2.—Al Wolcast, champion lightweight, at 2 o'clock last night weighed 130½ pounds, and Tom Jones, his manager, declares the champion is in the best condition of his career for his bout with Knockout Brown of New York.

Jones says the champion will win by the knockout route and that he will fight the bout of the time. Wolcast's arm, according to Jones, is just as strong as it ever was, and there will be no need for nursing it in the battle.

Wolcast has been training with Johnny Willett, a local boy, who stands in the same position when fighting as does Brown. The champion has mastered the style which puzzled him in his six-round go with the New Yorker.

APOLGIZED TO TOM LYNCH

"When I was umpiring ten years ago," says President Lynch of the National League, "I was playing with the Cardinals, and I pointed to the staff of N. E. Young, then president of the league. O'Rourke, then president of the league, with the Indiana team, told me to hold my tongue. He was pretty well discouraged, and while talking shop, he said to me:

"Mr. Lynch, when I was a player, I used to find fault with some of your decisions. Please accept my apology. Anything I ever said to you in the heat of battle I want to take back. I never knew what an umpire's trials and tribulations meant until now, and let me say they are something intolerable. Old friends have turned against me and I have myself a scapegoat instead of an idol. The salary ought to be $10,000 a year."

GLIMPSES AT THE SPORT WORLD

Ed Smith, manager of the South Bend team, began playing professional ball at Colorado Springs in 1931.

Alva Spangler has signed his contract to play first base for the Waco club of the Texas State league. He will go south in a few weeks.

Jimmy Burke took up preparations yesterday to receive his lottery candidates next week at Mount Health, near Indianapolis. He will have an even dozen pitchers report to him.

Addie Joss, after a course of treatment at the hands of the Cleveland club's trainer, has gone to West Baden for a few days to prepare for his early spring work.

After all of the other American associations had secured Harry Howell, Louisville finally got him. The only question remaining unsettled at this time is, Who will be playing with Louisville? The answer is, once more with Minneapolis. Louisville has been looking back and forth between the Millers and the White Sox as far back as the memory of man. Perhaps now he will be allowed to rest his weary bones with the magnates of both leagues.

Andrew Keefe, a protégé of Bill Bradley, former third baseman of the Washington team, Manager McLeer took him on the recommendation of Bradley as a youngster he has never played professional ball before.

Walter Johnson will not suffer by reason of being on a losing team. There is little doubt that he will be the paid pitcher in the American league this year, drawing a salary greater than that of several star pitchers who have been winners for several years.

Thurman Veasey, the lanky twirler whose showing with Zanesville last season caused the Cleveland Naps to draft him, won't get to play in the big league this season. The Naps have shipped him to Portland in the Northwestern league for a while more seasoning.

BOARD WILL FIX UP WATER LINES

Advertises for 400 Tons of New Pipe to Make the Improvements.

CITY HALL MATTERS

Members of the board of works at a session late yesterday afternoon decided to advertise for bids for 400 tons of water pipe with which to extend some of the main lines in order to remedy some of the defects in the system that were pointed out in the recent report of the National Board of Underwriters' experts.

Part of this pipe will be used for extending main lines to feed a network of smaller lines and when this work has been done the same end will have been accomplished that the experts suggested, although a different plan will be followed out to save cutting into paved streets and to economize in the matter of pipe. This plan has been under consideration for some time and was fully explained several weeks ago.

May Help Cause Along.
City Attorney H. G. Hogan is back from Indianapolis where he spent two weeks watching the track elevation bill for Fort Wayne to see that it did not get lost in the rush that precedes the adjournment. Its passage will probably aid in settling the differences with the Pennsylvania company on track elevation.

The company wants to bind the city to proceed in opening Webster street under the law that now governs, while the city is holding out to have the work done under the law that may be in existence at the time it is taken up.

Advertise for Meters.
Members of the board of public works have advertised for bids on water meters and as soon as they are received and the contract entered into the matter will be submitted to the council.

Under the general ordinance requiring meters for all services in the city about 9,000 meters were needed. Since it was passed about 700 have been set, but these in many cases are for new buildings and comparatively few have been put in in compliance with the law. One contract was made and after the board had fought it successfully through the courts and beaten out an injunction that was sought the city council turned it down and since then meters have been bought in small lots at list prices.

Board of Works Routine.
Judge Walter Olds, representing the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad company, asked at the regular session of the board of works last night that action on the vacation of First and Harrison streets be deferred two weeks, so that the company may have a chance to meet the big remonstrance that was filed. The remonstrators suggested that Fourth and Clinton streets would be a better location for freight sheds, but no action was taken.

A petition asking that John street, between Creighton avenue and Pontiac street be paved, was presented and plans were ordered.

The petition of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction Co. asking the right to lay a double track across the Spy Run bridge, was held over until Monday.

WILL TALK FORT WAYNE EN ROUTE

Doctors, Teachers and Dentists to Take Trip to Coast.

GOING WEST IN JUNE

Enjoying the pleasures of a western trip and at the same time carrying out a purpose to give Fort Wayne the benefit of some wholesome civic exploitation, a big party of Fort Wayne ladies and gentlemen will leave about June 20 for the Pacific coast.

The party includes a number of physicians who will attend the meeting of the American Medical Association at Los Angeles, teachers who go to the national convention at San Francisco and others who are making the trip purely for the pleasure of travel and sight-seeing. One or two special cars will be secured and the Santa Fe route will be taken, with a stop at the Grand canyon.

The special cars will be utilized only on the westward trip, the party breaking up at Los Angeles and its members having a choice of several routes homeward. The special cars will bear banners bearing the Fort Wayne slogan, and the gentlemen in the party will devote much time and effort to effectually sounding the praises of Fort Wayne as a business, manufacturing and professional center all along the route westward, employing various avenues of publicity in this work.

Arrangements for the trip are in charge of a committee which includes Dr. W. D. Calvin, Dr. C. E. Barnett and Dr. E. E. Morgan.

WILL ENLARGE HOME OF NURSES

Hope Hospital Authorities Have Leased Arantz Homestead.

TO ENLARGE SCHOOL

The Arantz homestead, on Washington boulevard east, two doors west of Hope hospital, has just been leased for a period of five years by the board of trustees of Hope hospital, and will be used as an addition to the home for nurses.

There are thirty student nurses attending the nurses' school at the present time, and on account of the large number of patients that have been filling the hospital for several months, this staff of nurses has been found insufficient to care for them, and it has been decided to enlarge the school by about fifteen more student nurses.

The house adjoining the hospital is now used as the home for nurses and as the rooms are all occupied it has been found necessary to secure additional quarters, and the result has been the leasing of the Arantz homestead. The exterior of the building will be left unchanged but the interior will be remodeled in the near future.

The Beekeepers.
The Tower of London, the city's ancient fortress and gloomy state prison of the olden days, has warders who wear a strange costume and have a queer name. The beekeepers are all old soldiers of meritorious service. Probably the name is a nickname which was given to the ancient men of the guard because they looked so well fed or because rations of beef were regularly served to them while on duty. Many of the warders wear decorations of honor.

List.

TO BE NO CHANGE IN SUMMER RATES

Western Passenger Association Settles Disputed Question.

The retirement on account of having passed the age limit for active service of F. W. Belz, freight agent at Chicago for the Pennsylvania, has resulted in promotions that have extended over a good portion of the Western division. J. H. Young, of South Chicago, has succeeded Mr. Belz; J. A. Burkett, agent at Van Wert, has succeeded Mr. Young at South Chicago; B. A. Welch, of Ada, Ohio, has succeeded Mr. Burkett at Van Wert; R. E. Hunt, of Columbia City, has succeeded Mr. Welch at Ada; A. I. Cullen, of Monroeville, has succeeded Mr. Hunt at Columbia City, and R. W. Garty, an extra agent, has been regularly assigned to the agency at Monroeville, succeeding Mr. Cullen. George Gudekuntz, traveling auditor for the Pennsylvania, has been busy all week checking up accounts with the men affected by this change and installing them in their respective new positions. Each change was a distinct promotion for the one affected by it and as all are well known in shipping and railway circles in Fort Wayne, the news concerning them will be read with interest.

were not badly damaged. Track repairs are also nearing completion and by sundown all vestige of the wreck will have disappeared. Immediately after the wreck the maintenance of way department collected the necessary material for a track around the derailed engine and cars and by 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon trains were running by the scene without delay. None of the injured are in a serious condition. Supt. J. C. Sullivan after assisted in directing the work at the wreck yesterday, discovered that he had sprained his back, in addition to the scalp wound he received, and suffered somewhat from this injury when he boarded No. 5 at the scene of the wreck at 5 o'clock last night and started for his home in Peru. Trainmaster C. E. Wells, who sustained a sprained ankle, was also able to assist in the work at the wreck until No. 5 came along, when he too, left for his home in Peru.

MEETS ALL REQUIREMENTS.

Mr. Wood's New Magnetic Lamp Gets Better Every Day.

General Manager J. J. Wood, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, believes that his new lamp is the acme of lamp construction and that nothing more is possible in that direction. One of these new underfoot, updraught lamps has been in constant operation, along side of a half-dozen other makes, in the court south of the lamp room at the lights for four weeks, and it has operated perfectly. Mr. Wood is having six more constructed by hand and will test them also before he equips the shop with the few special machines that will be necessary to build them rapidly. Mr. Wood will go east on business connected with the works as soon as he has completed the six lamps.

NO INCREASE IN RATES

Western Passenger Association Makes That Decision.

There will be no increase in summer tourist rates this year. This question was settled yesterday at the meeting in Chicago of the Western Passenger association when an attempt to secure the co-operation in a move to boost rates between Chicago and various points in the west during the coming summer failed of result. While the eastern lines have not formally announced that last year's rates will prevail this season in their territory, it is regarded as a certainty that they will. With western lines refusing to elevate prices, it is said, the eastern lines will take no chance of losing business by increasing rates.

NO RETRENCHMENT HERE.

Pennsylvania Freight Agent in Market for Help.

While in some other industries men are being either suspended or having their working hours reduced in number the Pennsylvania freight house is badly in need of truckmen. Agent E. H. Kirkland said this morning that he had work for twelve to fifteen more men and would hire them as rapidly as they applied for work. There are many applicants for employment at all shops in the city at present, but they are chiefly foreigners, very few Americans being out of work.

MR. SCHAAF VERY ILL.

C. E. Schaaf, vice president in charge of operations of the New York Central road, headquarters in Chicago, is very ill at his home in that city from blood poisoning. The malady is the result of an ulcerated tooth and it began ten days ago. Mr. Schaaf began his railway career in the capacity of a fireman in 1871, when he was twenty years old and he attained his present high office through a series of promotions made upon merit. He became general manager of the Big Four road in 1895.

TO MAKE LONG JOURNEY.

Next Monday Adam Collis, one of the old men in point of service in the ranks of Pennsylvania machinists, will leave for Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, the western terminus of one of the branches of the Canadian Pacific road. His two sons, James and Frank Collis, formerly of Fort Wayne, reside in that far away place and Mr. Collis will spend a couple of weeks with them.

IN SERVICE LESS THAN WEEK.

Glenn Young, the Fort Wayne man who was injured in the Woodburn wreck on the Wabash yesterday morning, had been a mail clerk less than a week. He began work last Tuesday in the capacity of a weigher of mails and was on his second trip out when the accident happened. Mr. Young was formerly employed in the Fort Wayne Electric works. He is recovering.

DOING A "SUMMER BUSINESS."

Supt. W. M. Wardrop, of the Pennsylvania, speaking of the volume of traffic over that line said that at present it was about "summer business." It is a heavy now as it was last summer and Superintendent Wardrop does not expect it to fall off any more, nor to increase materially. The only change in the situation is that the decreased movement of freight came earlier this spring than it did some of the preceding years.

Division Storekeeper H. W. Hurst, of the Wabash, has returned from a business trip to Toronto, Canada. He says there was plenty of snow and cold weather in Ontario when he was there.

The R. & O. will expend $500,000 for improvements at Cumberland, Md., this

The employees in the Cincinnati Northern shops at Van Wert went on a forty-hour weekly working schedule Wednesday. They had been working fifty-five hours per week. This shop is the greatest labor-giving establishment in Van Wert and the reduction is a serious matter with the merchants.

Duck Stone.
This game may be played by any number. A large stone is selected and placed on a particular spot, and the players first "pink for duck," which they do by throwing their stones up to the mark. The one whose stone is farthest from it becomes "duck." The duck places his stone on the large one, while the rest of the players return to the "bounds." Each one pitches his stone at that of the duck, endeavoring to knock it off. If any one succeeds in doing this duck must replace it, while the throwers pick up their stones and run to bounds. When duck has replaced his stone he runs after any of the other players, and if he manages to touch one of them that one becomes duck.

Bald faced hornets attach their large, cone shaped paper nests under the eaves of houses, in garrets or to the limbs of trees. Collecting the minute fibers that adhere to weather beaten fences and buildings the hornets mix them with saliva and make a crude quality of paper. To enlarge a nest, the inside walls are torn away and the material is used to add to the outside layer. The Adventures

Mr. Peter Ruff

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

The Perfidy of Miss Brown

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE PEARSON PUBLISHING CO.

"I was standing outside the door," the man answered. "I heard no sound inside—there was nothing to excite suspicion in any way. Suddenly there was this explosion. It took me, perhaps, thirty or forty seconds to get the key out of my pocket and unlock the door. When I entered, the side of the room was blown in like that, the diamonds were gone, Saunders was leaning forward just in the position he is in now, and there wasn't another soul in sight. Then you and the others came."

John Dory rushed from the room; they had brought him word that the car was waiting. At such a moment, he was ready even to forget his ancient enemy. He turned towards Peter Ruff, whose calm bearing, somehow or other, impressed even the detective with a sense of power.

"Will you come along?" he asked. Peter Ruff shook his head. "Thank you, Dory, not," he said. "I am glad you have asked me, but I think you had better go alone."

A few seconds later the pursuit was started. Saunders was carried out of the room, followed by the doctor. There remained only Peter Ruff and the man who had been on duty outside. Peter Ruff seated himself where Saunders had been sitting, and seemed to be closely examining the table all round for some moments. Once he took up something from between the pages of the book which the Sergeant had apparently been reading, and put it carefully into his own pocketbook. Then he leaned back in the chair, with his hands clasped behind his head and his eyes fixed upon the ceiling, as though thinking intently.

"Hastings," he said to the policeman, who all the time was pursuing a stream of gaseous, inconsequent remarks. "I wonder whether you'd step outside and see Mr. Richards, the butler. Ask him if he would be so good as to spare me a moment."

"I'll do it, sir," the man answered, with one more glance through the open space. "Lord!" he added. "They must have been in through there and out again like cats!"

"It was quick work, certainly," Peter Ruff answered genially. "But then, an enterprise like this would, of course, only be attempted by experts."

Peter Ruff was not left alone long. Mr. Richards came hurrying in.

"This is a terrible business, sir," he said. "His lordship has excused me from superintending the service of the dinner. Anything that I can do for you I am to give my whole attention to. These were my orders."

"Very good of you, Richards," Peter Ruff answered. "Very thoughtful of his lordship. In the first place, then, I think, we will have the rest of this jewelry packed in cases at once. Not that anything further is likely to happen," he continued. "But still, it would be just as well out of the way. I will remain here and superintend this, if you will send a couple of careful servants. In the meantime, I want you to do something else for me."

"Certainly, sir," the man answered. "I want a plan of the house," Peter Ruff said, "with the names of the guests who occupy this wing."

The butler nodded gravely. "I can supply you with it very shortly, sir," he said. "There is no difficulty at all about the plan, as I have several in my room; but it will take me some minutes to pencil in the names."

Peter Ruff nodded. "I will superintend things here until you return," he said.

"It is to be hoped, sir," the man said, as he retreated, "that the gentleman from Scotland Yard will catch the thieves. After all, they hadn't more than ten minutes' start, and our Daimler is a dier."

"I'm sure I hope so," Peter Ruff answered heartily. "But, alas! no such fortune was in store for Mr. John Dory. At daybreak he returned in a borrowed trap from a neighboring railway station."

"Our tires had been cut," he said, in reply to a storm of questions. "They began to go, one after the other, as soon as we had any speed on. We traced the car to Salisbury, and there isn't a village within forty miles that isn't looking out for it."

Peter Ruff, who had just returned from an early morning walk, nodded sympathetically.

"Shall you be here all day, Mr. Dory?" he asked. "There's just a word or two I should like to have with you."

Dory turned away. He had forced himself, in the excitement of the moment, to speak to his ancient enemy, but in this hour of his humility the man's presence was distasteful to him. "I am not sure," he said, shortly. "It depends on how things may turn out."

The daily life at Clemencon Court proceeded exactly as usual. Breakfast was served early, as there was to be a big day's shoot. The Marquis de Sogrange and Peter Ruff smoked their cigarette together afterwards in the great hall. Then it was that Peter Ruff took the plunge.

"Marquis," he said. "I should like to know exactly how I stand with you—the 'Double-Four,' that is to say—supposing I range myself for an hour or so on the side of the law?"

Sogrange smiled.

"You amuse yourself, Mr. Ruff," he remarked, genially.

"Not in the least," Peter Ruff answered. "I am serious."

Sogrange watched the blue cigarette smoke come down his nose.

"My dear friend," he said. "I am no amateur at this game. When I choose to play it, I am not afraid of Scotland Yard. I am not afraid."

he concluded, with a little bow, "even of you!"

"Do you ever bet, Marquis?" Peter Ruff asked.

Son of Late County Recorder Will Probably Fill Father's Place.

Columbia City, Ind., March 3.—There has been some doubt as to who will fill the vacancy made by the death of County Recorder Geo. W. Hildebrand, that occurred yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The county commissioners will have to meet and appoint a man at once and the latest report is that they will either name Harry Hildebrand, the deceased man's son, or Joseph Yontz, the democratic candidate who was victorious in last autumn's election.

As young Hildebrand has been doing the active work in the office since his father's illness caused his withdrawal the chances are very much in favor of the young man's appointment. Yontz's regular term commences January 1, 1912 and prior to that time he may start work in the recorder's office so that he will be up on all the points when his official duties start.

The death of Geo. W. Hildebrand came as a shock to his numerous friends although he has been in very bad health for the past few years. He was injured in a mill accident forty years ago and has suffered more or less from the injuries ever since. A few weeks ago he was taken down with a severe attack of pneumonia and that with his other afflictions caused his death. Mr. Hildebrand was sixty-seven years old and had been a resident of Columbia City for over thirty years. The deceased leaves a wife and two sons, Carl and Harry Hildebrand, to mourn their loss.

SOME STARTLING THINGS IN EASTER HATS

constructors of hats for interesting styles of medieval helmets.

One helmet of golden straw, having a very high polish and trimmed only at the back with two tall ostrich plumes in deep hue, would be taken for a gold metal helmet by a casual observer. Another helmet is precisely like that which Brunnhilda wears in the Wagnerian ring operas. It is of white Milan straw, with two bright cerise wings set on either side. A striking helmet which the Amazon queen herself might have been glad to wear for her eastern bonnet, is of white straw, with an embroidery of white straw across the front that closely resembles the carving in relief on the antique helmets. Another most remarkable helmet is made of black straw with set-in side pieces of black and white striped satin, simulating the plate mail or armor.

On each side of the peaked crown of this helmet are strange puffs of striped silk arranged in what is known as the helmet bow. There is a white straw helmet which has a different style of vizor bow made in straw and placed directly at the back.

The wings used to trim some of these helmets are made wider at the side by velvet ribbon of the same color arranged to resemble wings. There is nothing fussy or fluttering or soft or flowery about this new style of millinery. It is severe and military in the extreme.

INCREASING THE SIZE OF THE GREAT ASSOUAN DAM IN EGYPT.

THE GREAT ASSOUAN DAM ACROSS THE NILE

This view shows the progress of the extension of the Assouan dam on the Nile in Upper Egypt, to which an extension of twenty-two feet in width is being added to the existing masonry as shown by arrows, with a space of six inches left between the new and the old portion to allow for the difference in expansion and contraction, which will eventually be filled up with liquid concrete. The height of the dam is to be increased by fifteen feet as indicated by dotted lines. The problem of raising and at the same time strengthening the existing dam to enable it to hold up water to a depth of one-third greater than ever before was one of the most difficult ever solved by the late Sir Benjamin Baker. The level of the water in the reservoir is to be raised twenty-one feet, and since the top of the dam stands at present nine feet above the maximum water level, when raised it will stand only three feet above that water level. In consequence of this rise in the level of the river the temple on Philae island will be almost submerged, but Lord Cromer in giving his support to the scheme pointed out that "it would not be justifiable to sacrifice the present and future interest of the people of Egypt in order to save the submergence of the temples."

TWO FAMOUS KENTUCKIANS.

Justices Harlan and Lurton Figured in an Interesting War Incident.

(Chicago Inter Ocean.)

Morgan, along about 1863, swooped down upon the federal garrison at Hartsville, Tenn. Morgan had only about twelve hundred men, while the union forces numbered about two thousand. Still, Morgan usually knew what he was about—result: Several hundred federals killed and the rest captured.

As soon as the battle was over the confederates recrossed the Cumberland river. Among the rear guard was Private Lurton, of the Third Kentucky cavalry. He was the last man to recross the river, and just ahead of him was the last confederate wagon, loaded with federal muskets and other captured articles.

In the meantime the sound of Morgan's guns had disturbed the slumbers of another Kentuckian. This one was a union soldier, Harlan by name, and he was colonel of the Tenth Kentucky Infantry at Castalian Springs, six miles from Hartsville. He immediately started with his regiment to the relief of the garrison at Hartsville.

Harlan and his regiment reached the top of a bluff back from the river just as Lurton and the last wagon of the confederates were in the middle of the Cumberland. Harlan had a field piece along and he pointed it at the confederate cavalryman and barked away. He didn't hit the cavalryman; so he tried again, and kept trying.

Nevertheless, Harlan's shells hit the river in the immediate vicinity of cavalryman and wagon, and they made a mighty splash. The driver cut loose his mules and made record time to the shore. If Lurton tarried, there is no record of it.

The federal was John Marshall Harlan and the confederate was Horace Harmon Lurton—and both are associate justices of the supreme court of the United States of America.

This United States of ours is a great country. These presence of these two fighting men of the civil war side by side upon the supreme court bench is truly typical of a sectional strife forgotten and a country reunited.

Uric Acid in Our Food

Nearly everything we eat produces Uric Acid especially red and lean meats, and if it were not for the healthy blood that flows through our bodies every one would fall a victim to Uric Acid poisoning. Only those with impoverished blood are subject to Rheumatism and Gout. When thin and watery it admits Uric Acid, which in turn settles in the linings of the kidneys, stomach, bladder, joints, bones and even in the muscles themselves, causing pain and misery with it. Get rid of Uric Acid and you will get rid of Rheumatism. The Great

Golden Crown

Remedy is an antidote to all poisons of the kind. Face powder. It purifies the blood as effectually as good soap and clean water cleanses a piece of linen. In thirty minutes after taking the first dose traces of it are found in the blood and after a few days use the blood becomes thoroughly charged with the wonderful germ destroying and health giving properties. You can actually feel it as it forces the poison out through the pores. Your skin may show slight color and roughness and itch a little for a few days; a condition that need create no alarm as it passes away as quickly as it comes. Three doses will stop the most obstinate case of dyspepsia and a few weeks' use will restore digestion and overcome constipation. Three days' use is sufficient to prove its worth in all such cases. Don't fail to give it a trial. Price 25 cents.

Ladies are no longer obliged to use for an hour or so, then it's gone. Our Lectro Skin Food produces the same effect as powder, and its effects are lasting. In addition it rounds out the cheeks, tones, softens and whitens the skin with the first application. If one week's use does not make you look five years younger we will give your money back. You should not fail to give it a trial. Large jar, Price 50 cents. THE LECTRO COMPANY, Chicago, Ill. For Sale and Guaranteed by D. & N. PHARMACY.

BOWSER GETS HIS

Dignity Lost When He Fell on His Own Steps.

PICKED UP BY HIS WIFE.

Had Been Very Cocky at Home and to the Butcher and Druggist—Tumbled on the Ice Reduced Him to the Common Level.

By M. QUAD.
 (Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.)

A LITTLE fresh snow had fallen, and Mrs. Bowser was sweeping it from the front steps and enjoying a whiff of the evening air when Mr. Bowser turned it at the gate.

"Hello!" was the greeting as she smiled and leaned on the broom.

He ascended the steps and passed her without a word.

"Anything wrong?" was asked as she followed him into the hall.

"Your name, please?"

"My name? What do you mean?"

"Are you Mrs. Samuel Bowser or some other person? If you are Mrs. Samuel Bowser I should like to further ask what you are doing out on the steps with a broom in your hand, as if you were working for wages."

"Why-why, a little snow fell, and I was afraid you might slip up on the steps. The cook was busy with the dinner, you see."

"Mrs. Bowser, if that is your name, I never slip up or slip down. Please remember that. Never again parade yourself out on the steps with a broom. I am surprised at your lack of dignity."

"But you have painted the front fence," she protested.

"Certainly. But I painted it with dignity. No person had the hardihood to come along and joke with me. Had a tramp passed while you were out there he would have felt free to call out to you. Don't let it happen again, madam."

At the dinner table Mrs. Bowser noticed that he had a stern, set look, such as she had not noticed in months, and after a bit she tried to soften it by saying:

"There was a great dogfight in front of the house this afternoon, and an old woman got bitten in the foot."

Mr. Bowser waited just sixty seconds by the watch and then turned on her with:

"And you speak of a dogfight as if you thought I would be deeply interested. The idea, the absurdity! Woman, how can you think such chatter of account to a man like me?"

"But there were five dogs, all fighting at once."

"But if there had been 500 dogs?"

"And the old woman tried to stop the fight. She kicked one of the dogs, and you ought to have heard her yell when he gave her a bite!"

"Enough, Mrs. Bowser, enough!" he said as he waved a hand at her. "Here is a great world around us, going on night and day. There are a thousand problems to be solved. There are a thousand great enterprises under way. There are thousands dying and thousands being born. There are old ideas to be worked out and new ones to be grappled with. There is a responsibility resting on every person's shoulders, and yet you can sit there and chatter to me of an old woman and a dog-fight!"

Mrs. Bowser squealed.

Mrs. Bowser was squelched for ten minutes. She had seen the time when Mr. Bowser would have asked the color of each dog, which foot the old woman was bitten on, which dog got the best of it and all other particulars, but he had changed. He was another Bowser now. She looked at him and tried to puzzle it out and finally mastered up the courage to say:

"I gave a tramp one of your old vests today."

"Humph! You gave a tramp one of my old vests! And because you did so the astronomer, the philosopher and the statesman must stand still for a week! What a senseless thing when woman was created!"

Not another word from her until dinner was finished and they had reached the sitting room. Mr. Bowser's dignity worried her. She felt as small as a bug in the shadow of a giant oak. She had more news for him. One of the water pipes in the cellar had burst, and she and the cook had driven a pine plug into the hole. The wheel of a peddler's wagon had come off and dumped him into the street. A boy had stoned the Bowser cat, and a policeman had arrested a one armed man for trying to steal a pig ash cart. She had saved all these things up to tell him, but she must throw him out first. She started to say:

"Mrs. Green was over today, and we had quite a dispute. She says that a cricket is a grasshopper, and I say it isn't. I told her that I was going to ask you."

Mr. Bowser, who was sitting and smoking and thinking the greatest of thoughts, turned and gave her one awful look. Then he got up and went down the hall and put on his overcoat and hat and left the house.

Self Conscious Samuel.

A tramp accosted him at the gate, but he neither saw nor heard him.

He encountered an old woman who said that she had five hungry children at home, but he passed her as if she had been a lump of ice.

On the corner he saw his coal man waiting for a car, and he said:

"Bowser, we shall have a blizzard within a week, and you'd better let me send you down two tons of coal tomorrow."

Mr. Bowser looked across the street at the Chinese laundry and made no reply.

"The weather man says there's a big storm gathering in the west."

No reply.

"Shall I send the coal?"

That same frozen silence.

"You may go to thunder!" exclaimed the coal man as he walked out to his car.

Mr. Bowser entered his family drug store. He bowed stiffly to the druggist and walked around with folded arms.

"Is it soothing sirup this time?" asked the druggist with a laugh.

"Sir!" said Mr. Bowser as he turned.

"Your name is Agnew, I believe?"

"Oh, yes."

"And my name, sir, is Bowser—Samuel Bowser. Whenever Mr. Samuel Bowser wants anything of Mr. Agnew he will let him know."

"Say, you've got a tapeworm, and I'll bet on it!" shouted the man of drugs, but Mr. Bowser walked stiffly out without answer.

Takes His Tumble.

Three minutes later his family butcher was a bit surprised to see him in the door. He wanted to make things pleasant, and he called out:

"Hello, Bowser! Any chicken farm on your mind for next spring?"

Mr. Bowser folded his arms and sternly regarded him.

"Anything wrong, old man?"

"Sir, I am not used to such language. Do not repeat it. If you do not know already then let me tell you that I am Mr. Bowser."

"Of course! Any order to leave for tomorrow?"

"No order, sir—no order. I may never leave an order. I am not in the habit of leaving orders at butcher shops, sir!"

"By George!" gasped the butcher when he was alone. "I thought he was Bowser, and he said he was Bowser, but I'll be hanged if I don't believe it is somebody else!"

Mr. Bowser went home. He carried his dignity with him. It passed through the gate and up the steps with him, and then it deserted him in a flash. There was a bit of ice. His foot struck it, and after a jump and a sprawl he went rolling down the steps and brought up in a snow bank.

He let out three awful yells as he found himself going, and they brought Mrs. Bowser to the door. She saw in an instant what had happened, and she ran down the steps and bent over the huddled figure and exclaimed:

"Thank heaven, his dignity is gone! No man can tumble down his own front steps and hang on to it!"

Better.

Trusting the Future.

"My dear," says the husband as his wife comes to join him for a walk attired in her hobble skirt, basket hat and other things of the present mode.

"I want you to come to the photographer's and have your picture made just as you are."

"Why, do you like me so well in this costume?" she beams.

"Well, my idea is that two years from now I can show you the picture and you will say the things about it that I would like to say about your appearance just now."—Life.

"No; just struggling along."

"But that fine adding machine?"

"A demonstrator left it on trial."

"That new typewriter?"

"An agent forced it on me for a month."

"At least these expensive cigars denote ready money."

"No; I smoke ten and return the rest."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Progress.

"Yes," said the old man, "my daughter is still studying French."

"But she can't speak the language at all, can she?" remarked the friend.

"She couldn't at first, but now she can speak it just enough to make herself unintelligible."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The orange is the most luscious and healthful fruit. California excels in quality of oranges. The best of the California oranges are now packed in individual wrappers labeled "Sunkist".

Five thousand orange farmers in California do their own packing, shipping and selling. They grade and select their crop into "firsts," "seconds," etc. The firsts are fancy, tree-ripened, hand-picked, seedless, fibreless, thin-skinned oranges—every individual orange a perfect specimen of the finest variety of oranges. They are not only more healthful and more palatable than other oranges, but they are actually cheaper, for they are nearly all meat and nourishment. Your dealer sells "Sunkist" Oranges. Ask for them. You will know them by the tissue paper wrapper in which each "Sunkist" Orange is packed. On the wrapper note the label, "Sunkist." Keep all the wrappers. They are worth money to you.

Best California Lemons Come in "Sunkist" Wrappers

You can judge lemons by the "clothes" they wear. If they wear "Sunkist" wrappers they are juicy and good, for they are not thick-skinned or sour. They are just as fine as the "Sunkist" Oranges, and their wrappers are equally valuable.

ACTRESS WILL SHED LIGHT ON RENO DIVORCE INDUSTRY.

New York, March 3.—Promising to stir the pulses of the most phlegmatic husbandette and wifelet with details of life in Reno, Miss Leslie Curtis will, she says, in a few weeks publish a book called "The Reno Divorce Mill," or the "Diary of a Divorcee," in which she intends to mention real names. Miss Curtis has just returned from a two years' sojourn in Reno, where she has been posing as a divorcee to gather material for her literary effort. She says that she has not been handicapped in her work by insufficient data.

Miss Curtis was formerly a show girl, but after she had been stranded five times on the road, once in Poughkeepsie and once in Cohoes, she decided to leave that profession. "I had the bad luck to get in a company with a manager who had the unfortunate habit of becoming lost so often that it got tiresome," said Miss Curtis, "so I decided to leave."

She then told how she had gone to Reno, pawning her rings for transportation purposes. Once established there, she was the recipient of many telephone calls and letters from those who thought she was seeking a divorce. It was not long before she was "in the swim" and going along with a sturdy stroke. Many confidences, engendered by the potent power of the grape, were poured into her ears and all these have been incorporated in the book.

A MARRIAGE BLACK LIST.

The habit of making inquiries at private detective offices as to the means and mode of life of any young man who is under consideration as a suitable husband by the relatives of a girl whom he wishes to marry leads to some curious complications in Austria and in Hungary. Young men deep in debt are inscribed on the so-called "black list" at the inquiry office.

Good parties are, on the other hand, put down on the "white list." Five young Hungarian aristocrats who were involved in debt to such an extent that the only possibility of retrieving their fortunes lay in making rich marriages formed a kind of company for the purpose of finding wives. Each was to be provided with a rich bride, preferably an American heiress, as his turn came.—Vienna correspondence, London Daily Mail.

How to Get Rid of Your Constipation—Trial Free

It is too long a story to tell of all the different methods resorted to for the cure of constipation, ranging, as they do, from massage to stomach pads and from simple salts to powerful cathartics. It is only after a person has tried these makeshift methods that he begins to realize how futile they are.

Waste no further time on them but try a scientific preparation, one that has some basis in reason and fact, and then watch results. The remedy for the intelligent, who are striving for permanent not temporary results, and do not want their intestines nearly strangled by the average violent cathartic, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which has been on the market for so many years that its stability is assured.

Any druggist will sell you a bottle—it is a liquid remedy and not a pill—at fifty cents and one dollar, but if you hesitate about buying, even in spite of numerous testimonials, then write Dr. Caldwell for a free sample bottle, which he will gladly send you on receipt of your name and address. Thousands of persons have recovered the perfect use of their stomach and bowel muscles by first being introduced to Syrup Pepsin in the form of a free sample bottle, sent direct to the home. Mr. J. A. Vernon of Oklahoma City and Mrs. S. E. Snyder of Canton, Ill., both used it for stubborn constipation of many years' standing and now publicly report cures. You will never find anything better for constipation, liver trouble, sick headache, biliousness, indigestion and similar complaints.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. V. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

A NEW CHIEF OF THE CHOCTAWS

Like the Irish, take to politics just as naturally as ducks take to water." Although this might sound like the composite view of a Tammany-Irish compatriot, it isn't. It is the remark of Victor Murad Locke, chief of the Choctaw Indians, who arrived here for a few days' visit with friends. Chief Locke was made head of the Choctaws only last week by President Taft. Chief Green McCurtain, formerly first man of the tribe, died last December. By a treaty made in March, 1906, the appointment of a chief was placed in the hands of the "Great White Father" at Washington. Chief Locke's appointment was the first made under the new agreement. The new chief is thirty-five years old.

CAT-LIKE MONKEY WAS GUEST AT THE WALDORF DINNER.

Don Sao Paulo-y-Campinas-y-Man-Qina-y-Lagothrix, a Simian That Uses His Tail in Walking, Shown to Members of the Rocky Mountain Club—Snakes, Too.

A NEW TYPE OF MONKEY.

New York, Feb. 28.—Don Sao Paulo-y-Campinas-y-Man-Qina-y-Lagothrix, the only monkey of its kind in captivity, was exhibited at the annual dinner of the Rocky Mountain Club, at the Waldorf-Astoria, Saturday evening as a special feature of the entertainment. Snakes from the New York Zoological gardens vied with the monkey for attention from those present at the dinner.

Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of the New York Zoological gardens, was present to see that the simian guest did not interfere with the festivities. Mr. Ditmars also controlled the snakes. The monkey is one of the most valuable in captivity, and was exhibited to the members of the Rocky Mountain club for purely educational purposes. It was captured in a South American wilderness and brought to New York by Mr. Ditmars about two months ago. Since that time it has been carefully cared for and guarded at the Bronx Zoo, as all previous attempts to keep an animal of the same species in captivity have failed, owing to its susceptibility to sickness when taken from its native wilds.

This is the first time for twenty-five years, according to Mr. Ditmars, that such a monkey has been kept in captivity. In the last case the animal died after a few months. A noted taxidermist was engaged to mount the skin, and the monkey is still on exhibition as one of the most treasured of the museum at Serenotomar. Dropping the long family name, the curator declares that the animal is sometimes known as the five-footed monkey. This name is given because of the fact that it uses its tail for walking as well as in swinging about among the trees. The animal is blue gray in color, somewhat similar to a Maltese cat, and has long, soft fur like the cat.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

MRS. E. A. BOSS, Sharon, Mercer Co., Pa.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

LOCAL MARKET WAS DULL TODAY

The Week Will End With Prices Practically Unchanged and Firm.

ACTIVE TOMORROW

The week will end tomorrow with prices practically unchanged from what they have been for the last few days. It is altogether probable that the local market for Saturday will be the largest of the week and that many farmers will be in the city. This will bring in increased quantities of country produce, especially butter and eggs. But it is not thought prices will be lower, for apparently they have about reached the bottom for the present.

The fall end of apples for this season has about been reached. The price is constantly high. The price is selling for all sorts of prices, according to the quality. They range from $1.25 to $2 a bushel and even more for choice apples. Farmers have some yet stored away. The time is close coming when apples will be hard to get except at the fruit stands, where they always bring fair prices.

Potatoes are very low in price. There seems to be lots of them in the country. Anyway, large quantities are brought into the city for sale every day, the price being from 35 to 40 cents a bushel, in some cases lower than that in large quantities.

Grain conditions remain unchanged. Such is the case also in regard to hogs and cattle. Beef prices have remained firm for some time. No change in the quotations has been made for several days. Indeed, the local markets in every respect is featureless to date with nothing of interest to note. In fact this has been its character all the week.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., March 3.—New wheat buying for local leaders today after a show of weakness at the opening. The absence of any great selling pressure aided in the recovery. There was also considerable scattering of purchases on small resting orders. Prospects of heavy world's shipments and of long continued indecision regarding receipts led to the initial decline. Opening prices were a shade to 1/4c off. May started at 89 1/2@89 3/4 to 89 1/2, the same variation from last night's market as a whole. A rally to the following.

Bull leaders in the wheat camp were buyers of corn in sufficient amounts to overcome depression. May opened 1/4c to 1/2c down at 48c to 49c, touched 47 1/2@48 and recovered to 48 1/2c.

Oats dropped despite the action of other grain. May started a shade to 1/4c lower at 30 1/2@30 3/4, reacted to 30 3/4@31 and fell back to 30 1/2c.

Covering by shorts hoisted provisions. First sales were 2 1/2c to 3c up, with May options at 2 1/2c to 3c, reacted to 2 1/2c to 3c and fell back to 2 1/2c to 3c.
